Parallell

"What the hell happened?"

Markus shrugs, still white faced with shock. Things had gone bad, they all knew it was bad but none of them realised just how bad it would get when-

Andi grabs his arm, shakes him. "I saw police, Markus! And an ambulance - and is that blood?"

Markus crashes to the ground, buries his face in his - still bloody - hands.

"He said he would do it. I didn't think he would do it. He and Weiki were always so close..."

Andi closes Markus in a hug, and hides his face. "You should have let him go, Markus."
